

INTERNATIONAL CRIMINAL RECORD CHECKS

BackCheck offers two options for screening the criminal histories of international candidates. Our experience and leading technology allow us to design global pre-employment screening programs that can be implemented consistently across entire client organizations.

Option 1: Comprehensive International Criminal Record Check

Comprehensive International Criminal Record Checks are available in countries where criminal record information is permitted for release. The information is gathered from local government agencies and often includes authentic certificates, which can be passed on at no additional charge. Government agencies supplying criminal records are carefully examined for quality and completeness of information to ensure the results are reliable and effective in a pre-employment screening program.

This option is the industry best practice and is highly recommended for screening candidates at any level of employment. For countries that restrict the release of criminal record information, a Basic International Criminal Record Check is the recommended alternative.

Option 2: Basic International Criminal Record Check

Basic International Criminal Record Checks are verified through government agencies and report only felony-level convictions. Less serious crimes are not actively searched, but are reported if they are uncovered. These searches are less thorough than the Comprehensive International Criminal Record Checks and do not yield certificates. This option is recommended for clients requiring a high volume of international criminal record checks or who hire primarily for entry-level positions.
